

Interactive DVDs

The Interactive DVDs are designed to provide a training solution that is cost-effective yet retains the opportunity for personal interaction around truly critical subject material.

Clients describe the Interactive DVD as the best of all worlds. It feels like “live training” because it is a high quality video of an actual workshop but instead of just watching a screen, participants are asked to respond to questions and interact with each other around various learning modules. The current program content is a one-hour version of the “Connecting with Others” course but the length can be customized and so can the topic – to include: “Developing Resilience”, “The Power of Trust” or “New Strategies for Customer Loyalty”. Each attendee receives a complete workbook and the moderator is given a simple facilitator guide making it easy to lead discussions while a seasoned professional does all the teaching. Even the timeframes can be modified from a one-hour experience to a full-day.

FOUR REASONS TO CONSIDER THIS OPTION

1) The trainers have proven track records.

There is no need to conduct an elaborate train-the-trainer that involves pulling staff away from their jobs and running the risk of having someone who may not facilitate as well as planned. The presenters are partners at RDR Group who have conducted training for over 20 years at the highest levels in organizations around the world.

2) There are no travel costs involved.

An Interactive DVD and materials can be mailed or sent electronically to any location and there is no airfare, hotel, meals, parking or other expenses.

3) Everyone gets trained without exception.

This training option eliminates any excuse for not participating. Small facilities, remote locations, part-time staff, shift workers and departments with only a handful of people can experience these workshops. In addition, there are no limitations due to time, location or class size.

4) All the resources you need are provided.

The Interactive DVD courses come with workbooks, follow-up kits and simple facilitator guides (that can be printed by the client at no charge) – plus the RDR staff will be glad to conduct a pilot session for free (except for reasonable travel expenses).

ASK FOR A FREE PREVIEW

If an Interactive DVD is of interest – you can view one without obligation. Our aim is to create the highest quality training experience within the budget parameters you are given and our hope is to create a long term partnership that is mutually beneficial.